What changes do we need for Wednesday night?

After almost two years of Wednesday nights, it is time to examine how this mid-week devotional and Bible study time is meeting your spiritual needs. How often do you attend this spiritual fellowship? Is 5:30-6:30 p.m. a good time for you and your family? Did you enjoy our study of how we got the Bible? Our survey of the Old Testament? New Testament survey? Share your thoughts today at the family meeting.

Current book study offering for the month of June:
The Seven Laws of Teaching by John Milton Gregory.
If you would like to refine or explore your teaching skills (to include teaching classes or giving devotional talks), this class is a must. 5:20 p.m. each Sunday in June. It is appropriate for both men and women.

“This little book does not claim to set forth the whole science of education, not even the whole art of teaching. But if it has succeeded in grouping around the seven factors which are present in every instance of true teaching, the leading principles and rules of the teaching art, so that they can be seen in their natural order and relations, and can be methodically learned and used, it has fulfilled the desire of the author.”
